QUIET RESTORED AT M'KEES ROCKS.

Armed Guard Ceaselessly Patrol the Streets to Prevent Disorder.

STRIKERS HOLD MASS MEETING

Have Been Crushed into Temporary Passiveness By The Constabulary. 150 More Men Join the Strikers' Ranks Amid Enthusiasm.

United Press Telegram.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 16.—All is quiet at McKees Rocks today. While the crowds of strikers are congregating near the Indian mound to hold a mass meeting the streets of the borough and Schoenville regained their normal orderly appearance the result of ceaseless patrolling by members of the State Constabulary and an overwhelmingly display of armed force.

The strikers lost no time leaving plant's yards and now mingle with the throng gathered around the Indian mound. Important results are expected from this meeting as a number of leaders are expected to speak and much will depend upon the policy they advise. During the night 50 kegs of beer and a large quantity of whiskey were smuggled into the settlement and it was brought down the river on boats but the deputies and State Constabulary are unable to learn where it is secreted. By a ruse the 22 prisoners arrested during the night were gotten out of the plant early this morning. A box car which was used as a jail was hitched to an engine and the trip to the city begun. No demonstrations followed.

While apparently crushed into temporary passiveness, the spirit of protest among the company's employes became actively apparent this morning when 150 workmen employed in the plant putting the finishing touches to cars for the Hudson River tunnel in New York, threw down their tools and quit work.

At the mass meeting held by the strikers it was decided to name a committee of 15 men to present their grievences to the officials of the company. The committee will come to the city late this afternoon and talk over the differences. While the officials have not said they would treat with the men it is believed they will and the strike will come to an end. There is no disorder today.

The news of the strikers' ranks being swelled by fresh recruits soon reached the strikers and caused great enthusiasm.

RIVETERS STRIKE.

Want More Wages From Pressed Steel Car Company.

BUTLER, July 16.—(Special.)—Over 250 riveters, employes of one department of the Standard Pressed Steel Car Company plant here, refused to go to work this morning, following a decision reached last night. The strike is for increase pay.

Formerly the men have been receiving $14 for every finished car turned out, but this, during the recent depression was reduced.

TROLLEY MEN GO ON TOUR OF INSPECTION

West Penn Officials Will Look Over Pittsburg, Harmony, Butler & New Castle Line.

Superintendent J. W. Brown and Division Dispatchers of the West Penn started on a long inspection trip this morning which will take them to Butler and back. They left Connellsville at 7.30 today and will return either late tonight or tomorrow.

The Pittsburg, Butler Harmony & New Cast'e road will be inspected and the officials expect to pick up some useful ideas in trolley car operation. It is also likely that they may give the other road's officials some valuable pointers

The party went from here to Pittsburg by trolley, and then hiked out on the new road which has been operating as far as Butler for some months past. In the party were Superintendent of Transportation J. W. Brown, and Dispatchers J. H. McKnight and F W. Coldren of Uniontown, V. T. Barry and C. W. Michaels of Connellsville, D H. Flick of Mt Pleasant, John Silvus of Greensburg and O. E. Hayes of McKeesport.

Wants $2,000 for Slander.

UNIONTOWN, July 16.—Mrs Bell David of near Uniontown has filed a slander suit against Sarah Upperman, claiming her character has been dented to the extent of $2,000 by the defendant's tongue.

Not a Single Bushel of Wheat For Sale in This Section.

Nothing but prepared chick feed is available for little chickens in all the towns of this section as there is no wheat to be had. There is not a bushel of wheat it is claimed in any of the mills or feed stores of Connellsville or Scottdale, and no price for wheat is quoted, as there is no wheat The nearest market is Chicago which quoted yesterday at $1 29, with all prospects of going higher No one will buy a carload of spring wheat as it would be too expensive to distribute. The chick feed mentioned sells for about three cents a pound. The little chicks will have to keep that and pasture to keep them going, with what bugs they can pick up. The supply of chickens may be short this year, think some people. Some poultry raisers who have great faith in wheat are taking new cut wheat and threshing it by hand, but this is tedious, expensive and fresh wheat is considered as dangerous for a feed Its use is attended with grave results in many instances

The wheat crop this year in this locality is not a "bumper" one by any means. Most farmers call it a "bum" crop. There is no assurance either of a good corn crop, and many a chicken will be chased to the block and the ax to save expense of feeding this fall. The price of eggs and chickens will likely hang high.

EASY MARRIAGE PLAN WAS NOT SUCCESSFUL

John Lower and Rachel Capital Have a Falling Out and Land in Lockup.

The free and easy matrimonial arrangements of the colored race which are in vogue around this section in spots, did not work entirely amicably for John Lower and Rachel Capital, both of whom are incarcerated in the borough lockup.

Lower was arrested on the bridge last evening for stealing a dollar and an ear ring from Rachel, who found her way into the bastile as the consequence of taking one ten cent drink. At the hearing John denied the theft and said the woman had given him the money and the trinket.

According to Lower, the woman lived with him for a year as housekeeper. They worked things on the co-operative plan, sharing their gains and getting along all right until the break came

Then Rachel left him to "keep house" for another negro. It is presumed that this action didn't altogether please John. He is accused of going to the woman's room yesterday and asking for a nickel. He took a dollar instead, and insisted on having her ear rings. She took both off and he returned one of them.

John shook his head wisely and intimated he could tell other things which would not reflect any credit upon the dusky Rachel, so both were held at Chief Rottler's request.

RUNAWAY WOMAN ARRESTED BUT RELEASED

Mrs. Daniel Dusenberry Told a Pitiful Tale of Abuse By Her Husband.

Chief of Police Rottler was appealed to yesterday to aid Daniel Dusenberry in apprehending his wayward wife, who is alleged to have eloped from Morgantown with one Cecil Duncer, a boarder.

The Chief made a quick hike to the Baltimore & Ohio depot but the train had left, so he immediately wired the Pittsburg authorities. Mrs Dusenberry and Duncer were arrested in Pittsburg but later released for lack of evidence It is said that Mrs. Dusenberry told the Pittsburg officers such a pitiful tale of abuse at the hands of her husband that they would not hold her.

Dusenberry has been located here patrolling the Baltimore & Ohio shops, being a detective employed by the company. His home is in Morgantown. Mrs. Dusenberry is alleged to have taken her little daughter with her.

ITALIANS CELEBRATE BIG FEAST DAY

Have a Parade this Morning, Followed by Mass—Sports this Afternoon and Fireworks Tonight.

This is a big day in the Italian community and the swarthy sons of Sunny Italy are celebrating in great style This is the feast day of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, which is faithfully observed here each year.

This morning there was a parade of the Italians, headed by Chief of Police Rottler, Officers P. M Rulli, and Thomas McDonald, mounted on milk white steeds. Then came the Italian band, which rendered all sorts of airs in tuneful fashion. The Italians, numbering several score, marched beneath their fluttering banners

Following the parade services were held in the Italian Catholic Church, Rev. J. L Canova officiating. These were unusually impressive.

This afternoon there will be sports at the ball park, preceding the game, while tonight the mammoth fireworks display will be sent up from the ball park.

BELIEVED HOLLAND TOOK MONEY FROM PURSE

He Was Arrested Today on the Charge and Locked Up in Jail.

UNIONTOWN, July 16.—Charles Holland, aged 19, was arrested at his home at Elliottsville shortly before noon today by Constables Milton Morris and J D. Sisler of Uniontown on a charge of the larceny of $400. Holland was brought to Uniontown by the officers and committed to the county jail shortly after 1 o'clock. He is charged with stealing the money from Mrs Frank David of near New Salem

Wednesday, June 16, Mrs David and her husband drove to Uniontown and on coming into town they stopped at the watering trough on West Main street to water their horse Mrs. Holland carried with her a large purse containing the money and laid it on the trough. She forgot the purse and had driven several blocks before missing it. She immediately drove back to the trough where she found the purse but not the money.

Holland was working in that neighborhood at the time and County Detective McBeth claims that he has proof which he thinks will establish the guilt of Holland. The money was in paper bills.

ST. SWITHIN ON THE JOB.

Rained Yesterday and Today and May Rain for 40 Days, People Think.

Looks as if old St. Swithin would hit the nail square on the head about 10 days of rain if it sprinkled on July 15. It showered a little yesterday and rained hard during the night, while the sunshine of the morning gave place to threatening clouds before noon.

The mercury remains stationary. It registered 72 this morning and rose to 88 last evening.

Fate Pursues Them All.

The handsome Kollar Bros, piano which is to be given away to somebody absolutely free, is on display in the west show window of the Wallace Furniture Company West Main street This instrument is certainly a handsome one and is valued at $400 00. Somebody who attends the outing is bound to get it

The amusement committee has been particularly busy the past few days arranging the program and securing prizes for the various athletic contests As there is to be no speech making this year, special attention is being paid to the amusement end, the committee making every effort to provide a program that will keep up continual excitement from the time the first train reaches the park until the last departs for home in evening A special feature this year will be the dance in Olympia park's handsome new pavilion Kiferle's full orchestra will be there to furnish music which is a guarantee to those who wish to dance, that a good time is in store for them The park amusements are varied and many, the management having added a number of top-notch attractions that are entirely new to this section of the country Olympia park is a beautiful place in every respect and so much has been done this spring to make it better, that if you were there last year it will look like a new resort this time The Colonial Inn is one of the best hotels to be found anywhere with service unexcelled and to make it particularly popular only regular every-day prices are charged

Excursion tickets may be secured at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad station or at Graham & Company's drug store or Gorman & Company's shoe store. The fare for the round trip will be 75 cents for adults and 40 cent afor children.

THOMAS WAS VISITING BUT LEFT VERY EARLY

Dunbar Slav Runs Into Policeman's Arms at Three in the Morning With Hat Missing.

Where was Andy Thomas that he had to leave hurriedly at three o'clock, hatless, and rush frantically down town from the South Side, taking the circuitous route along Arch street and landing into the arms of Officer John Lowe?

Being of an inquiring turn of mind the officer took Andy into custody and locked him up

Andy, who is a Dunbar Slavishman, told Burgess Evans he went out to visit a friend on the South Side last night and left about 3 A. M., why he did not state.

There was no evidence to warrant holding Andy, so he was permitted to go. He asked for a hat to replace the missing headgear but there were no extra skypieces about the place.

Division of Opinion as to Whether Cow Bell Is a Nuisance.

Is a cow bell a nuisance?

This is the question which has become almost as burning in the East Park addition as What is a Democrat?' 'What is a Republican?' or 'What is the Tariff?'

The East Park people want the cow bell wiped off the map They seek its extermination, and if they succeed the mellow tinkle of the metal contraption as it jingles from the neck of the placid muley is apt to be missed from the spacious grassy meadow which used to be called Hogg's pasture but is now becoming the fashionable suburban section of the growing city

Chief of Police Rottler says the cow bell is no nuisance, but the East Park people think differently. The Chief expounds some logic to sustain his view of the contention

"We must have milk, and to have milk there must be some cows, and where you find a cow there must usually be a cow bell"

Then comes the next question, is the milk from a cow with a bell around his neck—no, her neck—no—which is it any way?—any better because of the bell?

A canvas of the grocery stores where the condensed article is sold, shows lots of cans with photographs of cows on, but none of them bears the sign of the bell

TELLS INSPECTORS TO BE VERY CAREFUL

In a Circular Chief Roderick Calls Attention to the Dangers of Mining.

James E Roderick, chief of the Department of Mines of this States, has issued a circular letter to the bituminous mine inspectors among whom a number of changes were recently made, telling them they must faithfully carrry out their prescribed duties and not show any leniency whatever where conditions are believed to be dangerous

Mr Roderick refers to the statement made before the committee of mines and mining of the last legislature, to the effect that the mine inspectors themselves were in some instances responsible for great loss of life in their districts The statement came from mine superintendents and owners, who insisted that the present code of mining laws is sufficient, but that the inspectors neglected to enforce these laws

Special instructions are issued that where black powder is used in gaseous mines the inspector must order the mine foreman or superintendent to discontinue its use and if these instructions are not followed out to report at once to the department

Mr Roderick says he is loath to believe that any laxity upon the part of inspectors had caused any recent disasters, but says "there must be something in it or such a sweeping statement would not be made without proof

JOHNNY BULL'S INCOME TAX NOT POPULAR

With Frick Mine Foreman William McCusker of Baggaley, Who Got a Taste of It.

William McCusker, the H C Frick Coke Company's popular mine foreman at Baggaley, who has returned from a visit paid his old Dunfermline Scotland, home, had, while in Edinburg a set to with Johnny Bull's income tax that is well worth the telling

During his absence the check for the dividend on his United States Steel Corporation stock came to his home address and Mrs McCusker forwarded it to her husband who left it in an Edinburg bank for London collection in American money And maybe 'Billy' didn't say Hoot, mon' and a lot of other things when the teller handed him out the cash less three shillings and pence enough to make almost one dollar shy for income tax Nor did William stop at that He stood right there and declared he would be a whole lot of things before he, an American citizen, would be held up and robbed of his wealth in any such a manner

The teller stood his ground however, until William played his trump card which was that he'd have his warm personal friend the United States Consul, up and see about the outrage, and then things began to come Mr McCusker's way In fact he was politely escorted to an income tax office on the second floor of the same building where, after going through a lot of red tape, the amount of the tax was handed back to him so urbanely that "Billy" forgot all about raising an international fuss

DYNAMITE CAUSED DISASTER

Experts and Miners Say They Never Heard of Gas Being Present in Dangerous Quantities—Jury Retired at 11:30 and Reported at 2.15 O'clock.

Special to The Courier.

JOHNSTOWN July 16—The inquest into the Wehrum mine disaster, which occurred in Mine No 4 of the Lackawanna Coal & Coke Company last month, was taken up before the coroner's jury last night The last testimony was in by 11 30 today and the jury retired to consider its verdict. The inquest was held in the offices of the coal company at Wehrum Coroner Hammers conducted the investigation, the jurors being Franklin Sansom, Indiana Thomas Doherty, Graceton, Harry Kallaway, Edward McConville and Harry Dawler of Hellwood, and J. Dalton Johnston of Elk Lick.

The report of the mine inspectors who explored the workings after the explosion was the principal evidence submitted This report was to effect that the explosion was caused by mine dust, which had been ignited by a charge of dynamite They scouted at the idea of gas being responsible for the accident

Mining Engineer Hazlett, employed by the Lackawanna Coal & Coke Company, together with veteran miners and others familiar with the workings, stated that no gas had ever been traced in the mine in dangerous quantities Mr Hazlett agreed with the mine inspectors that the explosion was caused by the ignition of dust

At 2 15 a verdict was returned that the explosion was caused by a charge of dynamite igniting the dust, gas not figuring in the disaster.

LAD WHEELS LOAD TO BROAD FORD.

Made Midnight Trip to Help Injured Father and Sick Mother.

REFUSED SHELTER FOR NIGHT

Was Offered Lodging, Breakfast and Car Fare, But Said His Mother Would Worry If He Did Not Get Home Before Morning.

A lad's fidelity to his parents in the hour of adversity was never more strikingly illustrated than by a strange boy who turned up at the Smith House after midnight last night, borrowed a wheelbarrow to cart a load of things to Broad Ford, and returned the vehicle this morning, leaving before anyone could ask a question or offer help.

It was shortly after midnight that Proprietor A. A. Straub of the Smith House was sitting in the office holding a fanning bee with Barney Gilligan, Kid Hagan and Jack Cotter. There was a rap on the front door and a diminutive youngster came in to ask the loan of a wheelbarrow. Upon investigation it was found the lad had two big bundles, containing canned goods, bread and other eatables.

"What do you want with the wheelbarrow?" inquired Mr. Straub.

"I want to cart these things to Broad Ford,' the kid explained. "My pap got hurt in the mines and can't work, and I rounded up these things for mother. She is sick, and there is a big family of us."

Kid Hagan sized up the bundles and had a hard job lifting them. Mr. Straub advised the lad to wait until morning and go down on the train. He said his mother would worry if he did that, and insisted upon starting out in spite of the alluring prospect of a nice bed, a good breakfast, and car fare to ride the next morning.

Seeing argument was useless, the Smith House wheelbarrow was trundled out and the lad started on his way. About 2 30 this morning the lad brought the barrow back.

"Much oblige, mister," he yelled as he ducked down the street and was out of sight before anything could be said.

Those who saw him start out on his midnight journey to the coke town down the Yough marvel that such a slight youngster could navigate with such a load, for it was even heavier when he left the Smith House than before he came.

KENNEDY THINKS WE ARE PLAYING FAST BALL

Says the Games That He Witnessed Are Superior to Class B and C.

Scout Sam Kennedy of the Philadelphia Americans, before leaving Connellsville last evening paid a tribute to the Pennsylvania and West Virginia League.

"The games I have seen here this week," he said, 'have been faster and better played than anything I have seen in Class B and C circuits. I doubt if there are more than two teams in the Tri-State league who play better than the teams here, while you are way ahead of the Southern leagues."

Kennedy says the fans will probably be surprised to see how many players in this league will go into faster company next year. He declined to comment on the chances for disposing of several Coker players, but intimated that several of them look mighty good to him.

IT'S FAR REACHING.

Not Until You Try It Will You Realize Its Full Significance.

When you take a dollar to the bank and open a savings account you are doing something more than merely saving a dollar. You are putting a dollar to work. In a small way, you have become a capitalist, and, like every other capitalist, you will naturally desire to increase your capital. This will lead you to save and deposit more dollars. Before long you will be in possession of a nice bank account—a reserve fund for emergencies which will be a source of great satisfaction to you. Wouldn't you like to try it? The First National Bank, the oldest, largest and strongest national bank in Connellsville, will be glad to have your savings account. Four per cent interest.

"Better Be Insured Than Sorry."

A fire might wipe out the savings of years and leave you where you started. It costs only $4 00 to insure for $500 covering house or furniture for three years or $6 00 for five years. J Donald Porter, 119 Main street. Both Phones.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it made me a well woman."—Mrs. ALVENA SPERLING, 11 Langdon St., Chicago, Ill.

A COUNTY CONTROLLER FOR FAYETTE COUNTY.

There seems to be no disposition in Western Pennsylvania to take advantage of the Act of Assembly passed at the recent session enabling smaller counties to establish the office of County Controller; and the result is attributed to the fact that the selection of the nominee would be made by the party committees, and not at the primary; in other words, by the politicians, not by the people.

There has been no suggestions about the matter in Fayette county, probably because the new law has not been promulgated save by a single copy received and filed in the Prothonotary's office, where it has naturally not been given wide publicity.

It is unlikely, however, that there will be any immediate change in Fayette county. We have an excellent board of county auditors now; besides, the inauguration of the new law at this time involves a tedious and troublesome procedure.

After the census of 1910 is taken, Fayette county's population will be sufficient to place it in the class of counties which elect controllers, and the office will thereupon be established in Fayette county, to be operative as soon as a controller can be chosen.

Fayette county wants a controller, not because our county officials are dishonest, but because the county needs a uniform system of accounting and a vigilant supervision of its expenditures to the end that reckless extravagances and downright dishonesty may be more carefully guarded against.

But the controllership will come to us in due season without petitions and other legal proceedings, and we can afford to wait.

THE DOIG CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

The announcement that a London publisher seeking diversion in the study of medicine has discovered a simple local cure for consumption, the plague of the white race, is vouched for on the authority of an eminent London editor. The only doubt resting upon the statement is that it appears in the columns of an American journal having the reputation of loving sensational stories more than sober truth. However, the statement has not been challenged, and we must assume that it is correct.

There have been a great many alleged cures for consumption, but none of them have been efficient in the advanced stages of the disease. In its incipiency wholesome food, pure air, plenty of exercise and right living have often contributed enough resistance to the partly diseased body to enable it to throw off the malady, but the struggle is usually an unequal one.

The Doig remedy is an application of an old fashioned but effective principle of therapeutics. The salves which our grandmothers made had wonderful powers of "drawing out" painful internal troubles, such for example as that unromantic but peculiarly painful affliction which was at one time almost monopolized by an ancient Hebrew citizen named Job. To this day the plan of counter-irritation is employed for the cure of many internal inflammations.

It is stated that the Doig remedy is being tried out by London physicians, and we will doubtless soon hear from its efficiency from authoritative sources; in the meantime, we would not advise patients to put too much faith in it.

PROGRESSIVE BUT NOT INVENTIVE.

Editor Cromble Allen of the Greensburg Tribune claims to be the only original paper baler pioneer in the coke region. He says:

The go-after-'em, but-good-natured Connellsville Courier says'

"The enterprising Connellsville News tells its readers with a front-page flourish that it has installed a wonderful new machine which bales its old papers. This machine has been at work in The Courier office for a couple of weeks. The News is a good paper, because it has wit enough to follow many of the good examples set by The Courier; it would be a better paper if it followed all of them."

In turn The Tribune might remark that we has been using a paper-baling machine for a long time and that The Courier installed one after inspecting the one in operation at The Tribune Press building. But to be frank The Tribune will go further and make due acknowledgement that it in turn got the idea from seeing the baler of the Greensburg Reduction Company at work. Where they got the idea and who got it from Adam originally deponent knoweth not, but it matterseth not. As The Courier correctly comments it is not of material matter where the idea came from, but the significance lies in the fact that modern newspapers are progressive and agree and demonstrate that all waste is wrong.

The Connellsvillian controversy reminds somewhat of the ancient adage on plagiarism:

He writeth best, who stealeth most
Of thoughts, both great and small;
For the great soul who wrote them first
From nature stole them all.

We are not prepared to admit that we are all mere copyists, though it is apparent that some persons are, even some editors. We believe the world still retains some measure of originality, else it never would have made a mite of progress. We may not all be inventive or original, but we will get along very well if we have a fine discrimination which will enable us to adopt the good and shun the bad ideas.

Whether our esteemed contemporary, the News, is a copyist from a sense of fine discrimination, or of flattering faith in our infallibility, we are not certain; but no doubt Editor North will tell us.

FREE DELIVERY AND WEST SIDE SIDEWALKS.

The residents of the Hill district on the West Side should have free delivery and all the influence possible is being brought to bear upon the Postoffice Department to furnish such delivery.

In the meantime the Hill-Toppers should try to help themselves. If we understand the situation correctly the chief obstacle to free delivery in this part of Connellsville arises from the bad condition of the sidewalks. The residents should do their part toward remedying this condition, and possibly the Town Council should take action to compel the laying of proper sidewalks.

It is not the duty of the tenant of a property to lay sidewalks; it is the duty of the landlord; and the landlord is not perhaps so much interested in the establishment of free delivery as the tenant. The latter should not suffer by reason of the former's neglect, neither should the enterprising citizen who is willing to comply with the Government regulations in this respect be deprived of the advantages of free delivery because his neighbor is lacking in duty and interest.

The Town Council has been insistent upon street improvements on this side of the Yough, and it should enforce the policy on the other side, at least in the matter of the sidewalks required for free delivery.

FORBIDS PERJURY AS WELL AS MARRIAGE.

The law of Pennsylvania forbids perjury on the part of cousins as well as intermarriage on their part.

Judge Taylor of Washington county refused to divorce cousins, who obtained a license in Westmoreland county and were married there, because of the fact that they had sworn falsely concerning their consanguinity.

The Superior Court reverses this decree and directs a divorce to be granted because that is the plain mandate of the law. It seems that the Washington county court should have granted the divorce according to law and directed the indictment of the perjurer according to law.

The large discretion of the court sometimes unconsciously ignores the law.

The 16th Amendment authorizing the Federal Government to levy an Income Tax will perhaps not receive the unanimous approval of the States for the reason that this power of taxation is peculiarly the prerogative of the States, and further because it is a blow at the Republican principle of Protection to Home Industries. The Tariff Reformers should not get too far away from the Republican Text.

Riches do not always bring happiness. A Rothschild has committed suicide.

Colonel Bryan is making suggestions to President Taft. He will doubtless at a later date claim that the Taft policies are My Policies.

The insurgents of the Pittsburg district threatened the unity of the United Mine Workers, but the insurrection has been happily quelled.

The Summit coke works have been started. The improvement in the coke trade is pretty nearly Tip Top. Any Frick veteran can interpret tais paragraph.

Even the submarines are drowning this summer.

The arts of submergence and aviation are apparently not yet perfected.

The Bluestone quarrymen had their hammers out, but they didn't have to strike for an advance.

The Connellsville burglars have made a change of base from the South Side to the North Side. It is possibly neither safe nor profitable to remain in one locality too long.

Corporations may have no souls, but David B. Martin, the head of the B. & O. passenger department, has a big heart and it beats for the little ones who are the largest part of the Sunday School picnic.

B. & O. employes feel certain that Friday is not essentially an unlucky day. It means money in their pockets today.

Russia seems to be butting into Persian affairs, Turkey and Greece threaten to have another round, England is having the nightmare over imaginary invasion by Germany, and, upon the whole, things across the Atlantic do not look as peaceful as a Sunday School Picnic.

Dilmon Pfoutz has triumphantly come to his own. He has been a long time on the way, but he got there just the same.

The Wehrum inquest is on, and we will hope soon to emerge from the misty realms of speculation to the solid ground of fact.

Burgess Evans announces that there will be no cut rates in his office when it comes to fitting the punishment to the crime.

The Coroner of Washington county wants to be a State Senator. His campaign will not necessarily be a dead one.

CHAT WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES.

The Monongahela Times says the coal and coke trains are longer and more frequent around that way than they have been for some time. The oven lights in the coke region are also bigger and brighter The brightness of the Connellsville region is reflected in the Monongahela valley and even unto the uttermost ends of the country.

WEATHER FORECAST.

Western Pennsylvania. Local showers; Saturday, fair, light to moderate southwest and west winds.

WARM WEATHER BARGAINS.

Goods here and plenty of them that we want to get rid of. Marked them at little prices to induce you to buy them. Something as an extra inducement to coax you out on a shopping tour these warm days. Though if you do venture out you'll find this store cool and comfortable. Light and airy and lots of room and a pleasant rest room that is at your service at all times.

Children's Colored Dresses at 75 Cents.

Mostly dark colors and sizes 6 to 12 years. Some of these sold at $1.00 Some at $1 25 and some at $1 50. You can take your choice for 75c. Save you lots of sewing—buying these days.

Parasols at Half-Price.

All that we have left at exactly ONE-HALF original prices. That means an opportunity to buy a parasol for from $1 00 to $3 50 and $4.00 that is a beauty and sold for double that price.

Silk Dresses at $10.

These sold for $17.00 and we considered them cheap at that price. The material in each dress if bought wholesale by the piece would cost more than $10 00. Pretty Foulard Silks of best quality and well made. Only about a dozen of these for you to choose from but not a bad color or pattern in the lot.

Children's Colored Dresses at ⅓ Off.

Sizes 3 to 6 years. All those pretty little dresses we have been showing at one-third less than the original prices. Mostly light colors and mostly dresses that were priced from $1 00 to $3.00. Most of these on tables where you can examine and see for yourself what a bargain they are.

Keiser Neckwear at 25 and 50 Cents.

Some that should have been delivered to us early in the season. But at these prices they will sell as well now as earlier Dainty creations that have a touch of handwork that no machine can imitate.

Ladies' Jacket Suits at $10.00.

Does that price interest you? Wouldn't the skirt alone be worth pretty near the amount? Couldn't you get that amount of good out of the jacket, as a separate jacket on cool evenings? We've about a dozen such suits, brown and tan and blue Out on a rack and going to sell them to the first comers.

Shirt Waists $1 Each

More of those $1 00 waists on the counters this week Pretty near every size and a half dozen different styles to choose from and not a waist in the lot but is worth at least a half more than this price.

The Remnant Tables

Every short length in the store is hurried to these remnant counters and just now these remnant counters are full of short lengths that are worth looking after. This week the short lengths in dress goods and the silks are especially plentiful and you'll find bargains among these that you cannot afford to overlook.

Lots of bargain talk but it's about goods that we want to get rid of and for that reason we have made prices that make it worth your while to investigate.

THREE TEAMS HELP FIREMEN.

Scottdale Volunteers Receive Appreciated Aid In Fighting the Holby Fire.

HAD TO USE 600 FEET OF HOSE

Fire In The North Side Section Nearly Out of Reach of the Department. Big Fishing Party Leaves Tomorrow For Cheat River.

SCOTTDALE, July 16.—The first fire in many weeks and one that caused considerable damage and taxed the resources of the Volunteer Fire Department took place yesterday afternoon, and the firemen had a hard fight in the added heat of the most torrid part of the day, in subduing a dangerous and destructive blaze at the house of George Holby, in the North Side district, back of Homer Ruth's residence. The alarm took the entire department, and three teams of town rendered invaluable service in assisting to get the fire fighting paraphernalia out. They were the teams of F. V. Perry, the flour mill owner, and John G. Darling and Joe Balsamo, the fruit and produce dealers. These men on the alarm of fire have frequently dashed up and helped the firemen get to the scene of the fire, and have made the department thus practically a horse equipped one. As the burning house was a long distance from the nearest water plug over 600 feet of hose were attached to reach it. The fire was largely in the attics and burned it out and destroyed the roof, with a damage of about $600, insured. The origin of the fire is not known.

The Heptasoph Picnic.

Three trainloads from Scottdale and one big train load from Mt. Pleasant are expected to go to Idlewild next Thursday on the annual outing that the Heptasophs of this locality have held for many years, and which is one of the most popular picnics of the season. The train leaves Scottdale at 8 o'clock, and makes stops at New Stanton, Youngwood and East Greensburg.

Will Offer the Hook.

The population can anticipate any old kind of a fish story to come out of West Virginia most any old time after tomorrow evening. Even the fabled "Monster of the Cheat" immortalized by one H. Brown Scott, a Pittsburg newspaper man, who made interesting material of that section one summer's vacation, may be captured. A fishing party goes up to the Cheat tomorrow from here and in it are Councilman James W. Fitzimmons, Joseph Mihm, John T. Hambrey, Robert Gilchrist, Earl Gilchrist, Arthur G. Newman, Lewis B. Wiring, John Clarke and P. J. Maloy, and sons, Raymond, Joe, Donald and Arnold, William Null and others. As Borough Auditor John T. Hambrey is along the fish will be audited and the number and size correctly stated. Mr. Hambrey being Agent Bob Gove's right hand man in the Pennsylvania railroad office at Everson, is well acquainted with the intricacies of freight tonnage and car distribution which will be also very valuable to the fishermen in freighting their catch home each day. With all the hooks in operation the fish tonnage output of the camp will probably reach a high figure.

Picnic Meeting Tonight.

The Scottdale and Everson Business Men's Picnic Association will meet at the Borough building tonight to settle the further details of the coming picnic, particularly the setting of the date of the outing, and it is desirable that a large attendance be present. The outlook for a big outing is very bright.

The Rains Are Welcome.

Several rainfalls during the week have given encouragement to the growing crops, although they have retarded in a measure the wheat harvest and hay cutting, which a good many farmers opened up on Monday. The continued drouth of the past couple of weeks was causing strong apprehension on the part of farmers and gardeners but their fears are somewhat allayed by the rains which have dampened the surface of the ground. Deputy State Secretary of Agriculture A. L. Martin in a letter here advises that every farmer endeavor to thoroughly cultivate his corn and potatoes during the dry weather and to leave the hay field even for this purpose, rather than in neglect the frequent plowing, or there will be a shortage of the crops on account of the dryness. He points out that stirring of the ground will often bring the moisture up from below and hasten the growth of the corn and potatoes. Complaints that Paris green used for spraying potatoes has failed in some instances to kill the bugs is met by the answer that any farmer who has reason to believe that he has been the buyer of an inferior grade of poison, should send the same to the State College experiment station for analysis, with particulars of where, from whom, when and for what price he got the poison. It will be analyzed without cost as that work is what the State chemists are for.

Will Sift the Water Supply.

The prevalence of typhoid fever ascribed to an impure article of water supplied the town has caused the Board of Health to have an expert here to make a comprehensive and searching analysis of the water supply. J. S. Evans, a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, came here yesterday and will take samples of the water and subject them to a thorough examination for typhoid fever germs.

Building a Big Shed.

Carpenters George H. Brunner and David Aspey are hard at work building a big shed to cover the barnyard of Solomon Sutor at Hawkeye, a shed 30×70 feet in its dimensions and covered with tar paper roofing. Mr. Sutor is a dairyman, and has a large number of cows that he desires to afford a good shelter all the year around. The shed is being built to connect to the barn and cover the entire yard, and is being constructed of boards sawed by Frank Chalu from an old barn on the Stauffer homestead, logs that have lain and dried for perhaps 40 years, and which have made boards so hard that they take the edges off tools in very quick order, and are hard to handle.

HIBERNIAN'S PICNIC JOLLY BIG SUCCESS

Estimated That Fully 3,000 People Took Advantage of the Outing at Shady Grove Yesterday.

Large and successful was the A. O. H. outing held yesterday at Shady Grove. Fully 3,000 people were present and spent a most delightful day at the park. Hibernians and their friends were present from Scottdale, Connellsville, Uniontown, Leisenring, Dawson and nearby towns. Dancing was one of the greatest attractions the large dancing pavilion being filled all day. Those who cared not to dance took in the other amusements at the park.

The athletic events were enjoyable features. The 200 yard dash for boys under 14 years old was won by Joe Hines of Oliver, while Pearl Curry of Oliver, was the winner of the 100 yard dash for girls. Josephine Schimilo won the young ladies' race and William Fallon the men's race. In the baseball game between Shamrock and Leckrone the former won out, the score being 9 to 3. After the game the players were entertained at a dinner given by Jerry Lynch who also paid their expenses of transportation.

ARCADE THEATRE TONIGHT.

Featuring Burke and Burke—Three Other High Class Acts.

Burke and Burke in their comedy sketch, "The Messenger Boy and the Maid," have one of the strongest acts of its kind seen here for a long time, and they are some singers and dancers. Mr. Burke has one of the latest New York hits when he sings "When Highland Mary Did the Highland Fling," and finishes his song with a very funny Scotch dance. Mr. and Mrs. Burke have a line of comedy that would make a horse laugh. Don't forget to see them.

Mr. Billy Raymond tells funny stories and his songs are well delivered. Frothingham and Dennen in their neat travesty are also making a big hit. Mr. Frothingham featuring a tramp recitation entitled "The Life of a Tramp" is well worth seeing, with baby Frothingham taking things easy. Saturday matinee, 2.30. The coolest and largest house in town. Doors open at 1.30 and 7.30 P. M.

FIRST COUSINS ARE NOT ALLOWED TO MARRY

Superior Court Decision Reverses Washington County and Law Is Established.

It is settled law in Pennsylvania now that first cousins cannot marry. This was decided in the first test case under the act of June 24, 1901, by an opinion written by Judge Henderson, of the Superior Court, which handed down its decision, yesterday, reversing Judge W. F. Taylor, of the Common Pleas Court of Washington county.

He refused a decree in the suit of Florence McClain, who lives near Burgettstown. While on a visit to Scottdale in the winter of 1908, she went with her cousin, Jesse McClain, to Greensburg, and they procured a license and were married. Judge Taylor refused to divorce them, although they never had lived together or assumed the marital relation in any way, because they swore falsely before the license clerk, reasoning that to get a divorce or rather have the marriage annulled, the applicant must be an innocent and injured party. This was not the case if the libellant knew she was swearing that she was not related to her cousin. The libellant was represented by Attorneys Vernon Hazzard and George J. Campbell.

Judge Henderson says: "The fifth section of the act of March 12, 1836, provides that all marriages within the degree of consanguinity or affinity, according to the table established by law, are hereby declared void to all intent and purpose, and it shall and may be lawful for the courts of common pleas of this Commonwealth, or any of them, to grant divorces from the bonds of matrimony in such cases, and the parties shall be subject to like penalties as are contained in the act against incest. But when any of the said marriages shall not have been dissolved during the lifetime of the parties the unlawfulness of the same shall not be inquired into after the death of either the husband or wife."

START WORK ON NEW TROLLEY LINE

J. W. Bridge Formerly With West Penn in Connellsville Is General Manager.

WAYNESBURG, July 16—Engineers are at work making detailed and complete surveys for the electric road which will run 32 miles from Monongahela to Washington. The line was known as the Monongahela and Carroll Street Railway Company but changed it to the Pittsburg, Monongahela & Washington Railways Company.

Some months ago the company constructed a portion of its line in Monongahela where it secured a franchise. Offices have now been opened in the Lindefield building in that town. An extension of the route has been filed, covering the country between Monongahela and Washington. The engineer corps, which is engaged in making surveys is in charge of J. A. Morrow.

J. W. Bridge, an engineer formerly connected with the West Penn Railways Company at Connellsville, has accepted the general management of the company and is in active charge of operations.

The route as contemplated, will go through a rich country, well populated and filled with mineral and agricultural wealth. It will serve Monongahela, Frye, Hazel, Kirk (mines 1 and 2), Crescent, Braznell, Scenery Hill, Bentleville, Ellsworth (mines 1 and 2), Beallaville, Vanceville, Ellsworth (mines 3 and 4), known as Cokeburg; Marianna, the scene of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Company, and from there to Washington.

MINERS' STRIKE QUICKLY ENDED.

Men Are Ordered to Resume Quickly After Obeying Quit Order.

LEWIS COMING TO PITTSBURG

National President and Feehan Will Have Chance to Go Over Their Differences, But Strike Will Be Settled.

A strike of the miners employed by the Pittsburg Coal Company, which was ordered by district leaders to take place at midnight on Wednesday, was called off about 8:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the same leaders' headquarters in Diamond street. Of the 40 mines involved in the strike order 16 continued working. The miners in the others notified the mine superintendents that they would return to work tomorrow, as they had received the official notice from National President Lewis that the strike was illegal.

The mines that remained at work were Scott Haven, Arnold Nos. 1 and 2, Guffey and Shaner mines, in the Yough district and Allison, Harrison, Laurel Hill No. 5, Midland No. 3, First Pool Nos. 1 and 2, Nottingham, O. I. C. Essen No. 2, Oak and Lick Run mine in the Panhandle district.

President Francis Feehan of the Pittsburg district, United Mine Workers, called yesterday at the offices of the Pittsburg Coal Company and was told that, inasmuch as his men had left the company's employ, it was not within the province of the company to discuss the strike further with him. It would be necessary for National President Thomas L. Lewis to adjust the difficulties and Feehan was asked to telegraph him to come as soon as possible. Feehan agreed to telegraph President Lewis at once and did so. Vice President George Z. Hosack of the Pittsburg Coal Company, also telegraphed the national executive of the mine workers, and it is expected that he will arrive in a few days. In the meantime the district executive board met in the afternoon and voted to call off the strike and have the miners go to work.

The difficulties within the councils of the United Mine Workers have not been adjusted and when National President Lewis arrives it is believed that there will be a warm time in clearing up the various difficulties involving the miners in the Pittsburg district.

A statement by Feehan yesterday said that practically all the miners in the employ of the Pittsburg Coal Company had quit work as instructed. He said no strike would have been necessary had National President Lewis kept his hands off and not forced the issue.

COOPER'S LETTER ABOUT WEST SIDE MAIL

Is Urging Upon the Postoffice Department the Necessity of Free Delivery.

Congressman Cooper's letter to John Duggan of the West Side is given below. It is self explanatory, and indicates the interest being taken in the matter to secure free delivery for the "Hill" residents.

When I got on the train after leaving you the other day, I found Mr. E. H. Thorpe, superintendent of city free delivery, on the train and had an opportunity to discuss the Connellsville-New Haven question with him, and have since called at the Department. They have promised me to make up a joint case between the rural free delivery and the city free delivery services, and have an inspector visit Connellsville at an early date and try and arrange to give the people the best mail facilities possible. I tried to impress upon them the importance of making provision for city free delivery as fast as conditions will at all justify, explaining to him the great inconvenience to the residents within the corporate limits who have been deprived of mail facilities which they have heretofore enjoyed. I think they will do everything possible to assist.

London Man Discovers A Cure for Consumption.

Whatpromises to be one of the most valuable discoveries in medical science amounts to nothing less than a speedy and cheap cure for tuberculosis.

William Doig, head of a noted London publishing company, retired from business several years ago and devoted his time to the study of medicine with special regard to the White Plague. The following story of his discoveries is vouched by William T. Stead, the great London editor:

He first discovered he could cure tuberculosis of the bone, and only in recent years he has found a method of applying his discovery to the cure of consumption. The treatment is extremely simple. A poultice containing acito and choiride (the exact prescription has not yet been announced, but there is no intention on the part of Doig to keep it secret) is placed on the body of the patient as near as possible to the organ or membrane that has become prey to the tuberculosis bacilli. In about a week an ulcer is formed, connected by what is called a ray of inflammation with the diseased organ. This forms a kind of duct, through which the muco-pus is drawn out of the system.

The ulcer needs to be carefully dressed twice a day with salve, which is also the discovery of Doig. If this is neglected the ulcer spreads, becomes black and the patient dies. But if it is properly attended to the ulcer steadily works off all diseased matter from the lung until in from four to six months a complete cure is effected.

William Doig has brought his discovery before the American ambassador, who was much interested. It was determined, however, to postpone reporting on the subject until the final series of tests had placed the efficacy of the remedy beyond all dispute. Doig declared that in his practice he has never had a single failure.

As a test case Doig was challenged to undertake to cure a youth seventeen years old, who was certified to be suffering from advanced tuberculosis in both lungs and also from tuberculosis of the glands of the throat, which rendered it impossible for him to speak, except in hoarse whispers. The youth weighed about 100 pounds, and in the opinion of the physicians his death within two years was a foregone conclusion. Nothing daunted, Doig undertook to cure this unpromising case. To the amazement of every one, the lad is now quite cured. He has put on flesh, he sings merrily at his work, and all traces of tuberculosis has disappeared.

Before the discovery is officially recognized, a final test on a large scale is to be made. Six patients, certified by physicians to be suffering from unmistakable tuberculosis, are to be placed in a private hospital and subjected to the Doig treatment, under close supervision by scientific experts, who will carefully watch each case from first to last. Doig is confident that within six months, barring accidents, he will have cured all six sufferers. The cost of the experiment is estimated to be $10,000.

The treatment is not painful, although somewhat troublesome. When the ulcer is started, a dressing twice a day is all that is required. No internal medicine is administered, nor do patients need to lie abed during the treatment. In the case of the youth whose cure has been described, he remained at work all the time.

FARMS FACING DISASTER

Rains Badly Needed to Save Crops From Burning Up.

New York, July 16.—Unless rain comes to this section of the east in a very few days farms will face disaster. There has not been sufficient rain in nearly three weeks to water the crops and they are said to be burning up.

BURIED LONG TIME

Workman Caught In Avalanche of Sand and Never Missed.

New York, July 16.—An illustration of how a man may lose his life in New York city and never be missed has been discovered by the finding of the body of an unidentified man buried fifty feet in the excavation for a trunk sewer.

This man was probably employed a year or more ago in the construction work on this sewer and buried under one of the frequent avalanches of the sliding sand. His shovel was found under the body.

Philadelphia Building Collapses With Great Roar.

SIX KILLED; TWO MISSING

Crash Occurred at One of Quaker City's Busiest Corners—Thousands Gather at Scene and Many Thrilling Rescues Are Made.

Philadelphia, July 16.—In one of the busiest sections of the city and at a time when thousands of pedestrians were passing to and fro the five-story brick building at the corner of Eleventh and Market streets, which was being reconstructed for the United Gas Improvement company, collapsed with a terrific roar, burying or pinning beneath the ruins thirty-two persons, six of whom are dead, two are missing, one fatally injured and twenty-three more or less seriously injured.

The Dead:

Peter Fritz, fifty-six years old.
Charles Larsen, thirty-five years old.
Paul Hanning, thirty-two years old.
Alfred Davis, eighteen years old, negro.
Sigmund Lansberg, twenty-three years old.
Albin Ecquist, fifty years old.
Unknown negro terribly mangled.

Fatally Injured: James Haggerty, thirty years old, fractured skull.

Those killed were workmen employed by Sax & Abbott, contractors. The two lower floors had been torn out and the three upper floors were shored up by heavy timbers. Steel girders braced the shoring. It is supposed that by moving one of the girders the entire structure was loosened.

The crash came without warning and narrow escapes were many. The roar of the collapse was heard for blocks. Bystanders and passersby fled in desperation to points of refuge, as it was thought that an explosion had occurred. After realizing what had happened people flocked to the ruins and began a series of thrilling rescues. Before professional aid could be mustered automobiles, teamsters' wagons and all sorts of vehicles were filled with the dead or injured and hurried to hospitals.

General Fire Alarm Sounded.

A general fire alarm was sounded and policemen, firemen, ambulances, physicians and nurses responded. It was a sweltering hot day and several of the rescuers were overcome by the heat as well as the oppressive dust of the debris.

Business along Market street was paralyzed. Shoppers ran out of stores and fought to get nearer the scene. Tremendous excitement ensued as the news spread to other sections of the city. Friends and relatives of the workmen came in scores and the women shrieked and drew away as the physicians dragged half-mangled corpses from the wreckage.

Many instances of heroism were witnessed. One man whose leg was broken was pinned beneath some timbers. When firemen came within hailing distance he asked that they attend to the more seriously injured.

HEIR TO SAGAN TITLE

Son Is Born to Prince and Princess. Many Congratulations.

Paris, July 16.—A son was born to the Prince de Sagan, who was Miss Anna Gould of New York. Prince Helie de Sagan and Mme. Anna Gould were married July 7, 1908, after her divorce from Count Boni de Castellane.

Prince Helie de Sagan expressed great satisfaction at the birth of a son and immediately conveyed the good news to his intimate friends in Paris. Many telegrams from well wishers have arrived here for the prince and princess and these have been forwarded to the chateau.

The birth of a son not only secures the succession of the Sagan title but means a Sagan heir presumptively to share the fortune of Princess Sagan with her three children by her previous marriage with Count Boni de Castellane.

JUDGE RESENTS INSULT

Judicial Fist Lands Heavily on Face of Prospective Liquor Seller.

Cooperport, Pa., July 16.—John S Eckert, a prospective buyer of the Mc Cloud house at Kenting Summit and a retired lumber man of St. Marys, knows what it means to be struck in the face by a judicial fist and that it does not pay to try to bribe the judiciary.

Eckert had arranged for the transferring of a liquor license and Judge John Ormerod told him if he ran his place right there would be no trouble. At this point Eckert pulled out a roll of bills and told the judge to put it in his pocket. Insulted, Judge Ormerod threw the money into Eckert's face and gave him several resounding punches in the face.

New Orleans, July 16.—"A friend of mine got into a hole and I began this to help him out of it. Then I wanted to get out of the hole I was in." This is the reason for the downfall of Trust Officer Wyatt H. Ingram, Jr., in an alleged confession. Ingram's accounts at the Hibernia Bank and Trust company are short approximately $100,000.

Fraudulent acts, he is quoted as declaring he committed, were executed by means of vouchers which he, as trust officer, drew against inactive accounts on the exchange clerk and for which he then secured cashier's checks.

SNAPSHOTS AT THAW INSANITY HEARING; HARRY THAW, HIS WIFE, MOTER AND OTHERS.

The snapshots of the principals in the Thaw hearing were taken at White Plains, N. Y., on the third day of the inquiry into the sanity of the slayer of Stanford White. Group No. 1 contains probably the only photograph of Harry Thaw taken since the tragedy at Madison Square Garden three years ago. Thaw and all his relatives are particularly averse to being photographed. The tall man on the right wearing spectacles is Thaw. The woman in white, her face covered with a fan, is his sister, formerly the Countess of Yarmouth. The man on the left is the sheriff of Westchester county. Group No. 2 is Dan O'Reilly, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's attorney. He is in the act of assisting some one from a carriage. The fourth picture is that of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, wife of White's slayer, who was summoned by the State to testify concerning alleged threats made against her by her husband since the killing of White. Evelyn Thaw posed for the photograph just outside the court room.

EVELYN'S LIPS ARE UNSEALED.

Is Compelled to Give Her Testimony Against Thaw.

SAYS HE THREATENED HER LIFE

Former Chorus Girl's Story a Strong Point For State in Its Endeavor to Keep Standford White's Slayer in Matteawan Asylum.

White Plains, N. Y., July 16.—Harry K. Thaw's pretty little wife, formerly the chorus girl, Evelyn Nesbit, went on the stand here and gave damaging testimony against him. It was the strongest point scored so far by the state in its fight to keep Thaw in the asylum for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

"Did Harry K. Thaw threaten to take your life?" she was asked directly by Deputy Attorney General Clarke. "Did he at any time say this to you or this in substance: 'I shall have to kill you when I get out of here?'" The courtroom was hushed and Evelyn Thaw turned appealingly to Justice Mills. She begged to be allowed not to answer, because she said she knew she would incur his everlasting animosity and her attitude indicated she believed he might carry out his alleged threat.

The court ruled that the only possible grounds upon which she could decline to answer were that it would tend to incriminate her, and he added he did not see how that would be applicable to her situation.

Evelyn Answers Question.

Then Evelyn Thaw answered the question. "Yes, he did," she said.

"What were his exact words?" demanded Mr. Clarke.

"He said, 'When I get out of here I suppose I will have to kill you.'"

"Why did he say that?"

"We were discussing his mental condition. I had asked him what he meant and he said: 'You know I was not crazy on the night that I shot White.' I asked him again and he said: 'You know that I missed White by two minutes on the day before.'"

Thaw, when asked about his wife's testimony after court, said he was not surprised at her attitude, but he emphatically denied that he ever threatened her life.

"It is very plain to every one that her story is not true," he said. "I never threatened to kill her. First she says one thing and then another."

It has been decided to abandon a physical examination of Thaw by the state's alienists and to confine the insanity test by the experts to the mental examination of Thaw as a witness.

Discusses Her Testimony.

Before leaving for New York Evelyn Thaw discussed her testimony.

"If the Thaw family had done the right thing by me I would never have taken the stand to testify against my husband," she said. "But they wouldn't guarantee me the allowance I asked for when the annulment proceedings were begun. If they had done that I would have been far away from here today and Harry would have a better chance of getting his liberty.

"Often I feel sorry I ever saw the stage at all. As a model, I can be a good girl and earn enough to keep me. I can hope for nothing from my husband's family, and that's my position in a few words.

"I am Harry Thaw's wife, but I pay the rent. The landlord sends the bills to me. I don't know whether or not my husband will harm me if he is released. He has made one threat, though, and that has terrified me."

"Do you think he is insane?" she was asked.

"I cannot answer that," she replied. "I don't want to."

UNIONIST IS HELD.

Chicago Police Say Bomb Mystery is Cleared Up.

Chicago, July 16.—The holding of Vincent A. Altman, assistant business agent of the Carpenter's union, to the grand jury on the charge of placing a bomb that was exploded in the downtown district, presages a bitter contest between labor unions and the police.

Altman is charged with throwing bomb No. 31, which did great damage to the plant of the Chicago Telephone company and surrounding buildings. As to the question of the motive behind the bomb explosions—gamblers' war or labor troubles—the situation so far has continued mysterious. The police, however, declare that the whole bombthrowing mystery is about to be cleared up.

Crushed By a Train.

Akron, O., July 16.—A freight train which overtook him while crossing the track within 100 feet of his home caused the death of Charles A. Lawson.

MORE PANAMA CANAL BONDS

Congress Will Be Asked To Meet Latest Estimate of Cost.

Washington, July 16.—Congress will be asked at the instance of President Taft to authorize the issuance of bonds to the extent of the latest estimate of the cost of the Panama canal. This issue will be in lieu of that proposed in the rider to the Payne tariff bill (stricken out in the senate), authorizing the issuance of $40,000,000 in bonds to reimburse the general fund of the treasury for the purchase of the canal property.

The Goethals estimate of $397,000,000 as the cost of the canal complete was used as a basis for the proposed bond issue. The secretary of the treasury would be empowered to issue the bonds from time to time as the money is needed, at interest not to exceed 3 per cent. These bonds are out at 2 per cent interest, but it was not believed possible to sell more of them at that rate, hence the extension of the limit to 3 per cent.

TAFT STANDS PAT

President Insists Upon Adoption of Corporation Tax Amendment.

Washington, July 16.—That President Taft "stands right where he has stood all along," and will insist upon the adoption of the corporation tax amendment is the substance of a report made to the tariff conference by Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne.

An effort had been made by the conferees to induce the president to consent to the striking out of the corporation tax amendment. The president not only told Senator Aldrich and Chairman Payne that he would not withdraw from his position in favor of this tax, but that he was assured of sufficient votes to keep the provision in the bill and to insure its adoption in both houses.

STREET FIGHTING CONTINUES

Nationalists, However, Have Upper Hand in Persian Trouble.

Teheran, Persia, July 16.—Despite the efforts of General Liakhoff, the military governor of Teheran, to open negotiations with the Nationalist leaders and the agreement of both sides to cease hostilities, street fighting is in progress.

The insurgents, however, continue in the ascendancy and the outcome in their favor appears to be a foregone conclusion. The shah remains obdurate and will probably insist upon holding out until the Nationalist guns are trained on the Sultanabad palace.

CHAPTER XXII.

SEVERAL PHILOSOPHERS.

THE four burly men sat down upon the chests, Von Blitz alone being visible to the watchers. They were fagged to the last extreme.

"Dis is der last," panted Von Blitz, blowing hard and stretching his big arms. "I fix him," he growled. "His time vill come, by tam! I let him know he can't take my vives avay mit him. Der dog! I fix him some day purdy soon. Und dem tam vimmens! Dey run avay mit him, eh? Ach, Gott, if I could only put my hands by deir necks yet!"

"Vat for you fret, Yacob?" growled one of the Boers. "You couldn't take dose vimmens back by Europe mit you. I tink you got goot luck by losing dem. Misder Chase can't take dem back needer. Don't fret."

"Vell," said Von Blitz, arising, "come on, boys. Dis is der last of dem. Den ve blow der tam t'ing up. Grab hold dere, Joost. Up mit it, Jan. Vat? No?"

"Gott in himmel, Yacob, vait a minutes! My back is proke!" protested Joost stubbornly. Von Blitz swore steadily for a minute, but could not move the impassive Boers.

"Vat for you tink I vant you in on dis, you svine? To set around und dream? Nobody else knows about dis treasures, und ve got it all for ourselves—ve four und no more, und you say, 'Vat's der hurry?' It's all ours. Ve divide it oop in der cave mit all der money ve get from der bank. Vat? Yes? Den, ven der time comes, ve send it all by Australia und no von is der viser. Der natives von't know, und der white peebles von't be alive to care aboudt it."

"I don't like dot scheme to rob der bank," growled Jan. "If der peeples get on to us, dey vould cut us to bieces."

"But dey won't get on to us, you fool. Dey vouldn't take it demselves if it vas handed to dem. Dey're too honest—yes. Vell, don't dey say ve're honest too? Vell, vat more you vant? Dey don't know how much money und rubies dere is in der bank. Ve von't take all of it—und dey won't know der difference. Ve burn der books. Das is all. Ve get in by der bank tonight, boys."

"I don't like id," said Joost. "Id's stealing from our freunds, Yacob. Besides, if der oder heirs should go before der government mit der story, vat den?"

"Der oder heirs vill never get der chance, boys. Dey vill die mit der plague—ha, ha! Sure! Dere von't be no oder heirs. Rasula says it must be so. Ve can'd vait, boys. It vill be years before der business is settled. Ve must get vat ve can now and vait for der decision afterwards. Brodney has wrote to Rasula, saying dat dot Chase feller is to stay here vedder ve vant him or not. He says Chase is a goot man! By tam, it makes me cry to t'ink of vot he has done by me—dot goot man!"

To the amazement of all the burly German began to blubber.

"Come on, Yacob," said Jan gruffly.

Von Blitz shook his fist at the door across the chamber and thundered his final maledictions.

"Sir John says in der letter to Misder Chase dere is a movements on foot in London to settle der contest out of court," volunteered Joost.

"Sure, but he also say dat ve all may die mit old age before it is over yet."

"Don't forget der plague!" said Jan.

They groaned mightily as they lifted the heavy chests to their shoulders and started for the door.

"Close der door, Jan," commanded Von Blitz from the passage. "Ve vill light der fuse ven ve haf got beyond der first bend. Vat? Look! By tam, von of you swine has broke der fuse. Vait! Ve vill fix him now."

The door was closed behind them, but the listeners could hear them repairing the damage that Selim had done to the fuse.

Led by Selim, the four made a rush for the door leading into the chateau. They threw it open and passed through, flying as if for their lives. No one could tell how soon an explosion might bring disaster to the region; they put distance between them and the powder keg. Selim paused long enough to drop the bolts and turn the great key with the lever. At the second turn in the narrow corridor he overtook Chase and the scurrying women.

"Is there nothing to be done?" cried the princess. "Can we not prevent the explosion? They will cut off our means of escape in that"—

"I know too much about gunpowder, princess," said Chase dryly, "to fool with it. It's like a mule. It kicks hard. God, it was hard to stand there and hear those brutes planning it all and not be able to stop them!"

The princess was once more at his side. He had clasped her arm to lead her securely in the wake of Neenah's electric lantern. She came to a sudden stop.

"And pray, Mr. Chase," she said sharply, as if the thought occurred to her for the first time, "why didn't you stop them? You had the advantage. You and Selim could have surprised them—you could have taken them without a struggle."

He laughed softly, deprecatingly, not a little impressed by the justice of her criticism.

"No doubt you consider me a coward," he said ruefully.

"You know that I do not," she protested. "I—I can't understand your motive; that is all."

"You forget that I am the representative of these very men. I am the trusted agent of Sir John Brodney, who has refused to supplant me with another. I can't very well represent Sir John and at the same time make prisoners or corpses of his clients, even though I am being shielded by their legal foes. I'll not have Von Blitz saying, even to himself, that I have not only stolen his wives, but have also cast him into the hands of his Philistines. It may sound quixotic to you, but I think that Lord Deppingham and Mr. Browne will understand my attitude."

"But Von Blitz has sworn to kill you," she expostulated, with some heat. "You are wasting your integrity, I must say, Mr. Chase."

"Would you have me shoot him from ambush?" he demanded.

"Not at all. You could have taken him captive and held him safe until the time comes for you to leave the island."

"He would not have been my captive in any event. I could do no more than deliver him into the hands of his enemies. Would that be fair?"

"But he is a thief!"

"No more so than Taswell Skaggs and John Wyckholme, who unquestionably cheated the natives out of the very treasure we have seen carried away. I am not a constable nor a thief catcher. I am a soldier of the defense, not an officer of the crown, at this stage of the game. Today I shall contrive to send word to Rasula that Von Blitz has stolen the treasure chests. Mr. Von Blitz will have a sad time explaining this little defection to his friends. We must not overlook the fact that Lady Deppingham and Robert Browne are quite willing to take everything from the islanders. Everything that Taswell Skaggs and John Wyckholme possessed in this island belongs to them under the terms of the will."

They were at the top of the second flight of stairs by this time and quite a distance from the treasure chamber. His coolness, the absence of any sign of returning sentiment, was puzzling her sorely. Half an hour before she had been carried away, rendered helpless, by the passion that swayed him. Now he spoke and looked as if he had forgotten the result of his storming. Strangely enough, she was piqued.

When they came into the well lighted upper corridor he proceeded ruthlessly to upset all of her harsh calculations. He stopped suddenly, stepping directly in front of her. As she drew up in surprise he reached down and took both of her hands in his. For the moment she was too amazed to oppose this sudden action. She looked up into his face, many emotions in her own—reproof, wonder, dismay, hauteur, joy.

"Wait," he said gently. They were quite alone. She saw the most wonderful light in his gray eyes. Her lips parted in quick, timorous confusion. "I love you. I am sorry for what I did down there. I couldn't help it—nor could you. Yet I took a cruel advantage of you. I know what you've been thinking too. You have been saying to yourself that I wanted to see how far I could go. Don't speak. I know! You are wrong. I've absolutely worshiped you since those first days in Thorberg, wildly, hopelessly, day and night. I was afraid of you—yes, afraid of you because you are a princess. But I've got over all that, Genevra. You are a woman, a living, real woman, with the blood and the heart and the lips that were made for men to crave. I want to tell you this here in the light of day, not in the darkness that hid all the truth in me except that which you might have felt in my kiss."

"Please—please don't," she said once more, her lip trembling, her eyes full of the softness that the woman who loves cannot hide. "You shall not go on! It is wrong!"

"It is not wrong!" he cried hotly. "My love is not wrong. I want you to understand and to believe. I can't hope that you will be my wife. It's too wildly improbable. You are not for such as I. You are pledged to a man of your own world, your own exalted world. But listen, Genevra. See, my eyes call you darling even though my lips dare not. Genevra, I'd give my soul to hear you say that you will be my wife. You do understand how it is with me?"

The delicious sense of possession thrilled her. She glowed with the return of her self esteem, in the restoration of that quality which proclaimed her a princess of the blood. She was sure of him now. She was sure of herself. She had her emotions well in hand. And, so, despite the delicious warmth that swept through her being, she chose to reveal no sign of it to him.

"I do understand," she said quietly, meeting his gaze with a directness that hurt him sorely. "And you, too, understand. I could not be your wife. I am glad, yet sorry, that you love me, and I am proud to have heard you say that you want me. But I am a sensible creature, Mr. Chase, and, being sensible, am therefore selfish. I have seen women of my unhappy station venture outside of their narrow confines in the search for lifelong joy with men who might have been kings had they not been born under happier stars—men of the great wide world instead of the soulless, heartless patch which such as I call a realm. Not one in a hundred of those women found the happiness they were so sure of grasping just outside their prison walls. It was not in the blood. We must marry and live and die in the sphere to which we were born. We must go through life unloved and uncherished, bringing princes into the world, seeing happiness and love just beyond our reach all the time. We are bound by chains no force can break—the chains of prejudice."

She had withdrawn her hands from his. He was standing before her as calm and unmoved as a statue.

"Just the same," he went on gently, "you love me as I love you. You kissed me. I could feel love in you then. I can see it in you now. You will marry Prince Karl in June, and all the rest of your life will be bleak December. You will never forget this month of March—our month." He paused for a moment to look deeply into her incredulous eyes. His face writhed in sudden pain. Then he burst forth with a vehemence that startled her. "My God, I pity you with all my soul! All your life!"

"Don't pity me!" she cried fiercely. "I cannot endure that!"

"Forgive me! I shouldn't say such things to you. It's as if I were bullying you."

Great Good Being Done

MANY PEOPLE PRAISING ROOT JUICE.

When the Root Juice Demonstrations were started at this point the names of many people who were cured by the great remedy were published in the local papers. The wonderful medicine has been here but a short while, but many home people who have been using it are praising it very highly. We have published in this paper the names of many who have been cured by it, and it seems that it would pay every afflicted person to investigate as no medicine was ever introduced to this community that created so much favorable comment and did so much good in such a short while. Many that suffered with chronic stomach, liver, kidney and rheumatic troubles are blessing the day that brought Root Juice to this point. Out of the scores of people that have purchased the remedy, not a single complaint has been made but many are calling at Graham & Company's drug store to get more of the medicine and report the great good it is doing.

MURDER FOLLOWS DRINKING BOUT

Fayette City Officers Searching For Man Who Killed Companion at the Alice Mines.

CHARLEROI, July 15.—The police of the valley towns are looking for a foreigner who shot and killed another at the Alice mines, near Fayette City. The shooting took place following a quarrel among some Hungarian miners of that place. Neither the name of the man killed nor his assailant can be learned.

It is said that the Hungarians were drinking and having a carousal at about 6 o'clock last evening. A dispute arose and finally one man pulled a gun and fired. The man who did the shooting fled and despite the fact that officers from Fayette City were put on the trail immediately has thus far eluded capture.

WOMAN, LOVELY WOMAN

But Alas, Without Beautiful Hair No Woman Can Be Handsome.

A great many newspapers and magazines are printing pages on how a woman can be beautiful and keep beautiful.

The women of Paris are, as a rule, beautiful and keep beautiful, and a careful American observer who has traveled much claims that their beauty is due to their knowledge of how to keep their hair luxuriant, which they do by using a superior hair tonic.

Many American women are as wise as their French sisters, and that is why Parisian Sage, the quick acting and greatest of all hair restorers and tonics, is now having such a tremendous sale in America.

We ask every woman reader of this paper to give this marvelous hair beautifier a thorough trial, and we gladly make them this liberal offer:

Get a large 50 cent bottle from A. A. Clarke today, the largest for the money in America. Use it as directed for two weeks. If at the end of that time you are not satisfied with the results, say so to A. A. Clarke and he will give you your money back.

Besides being a delightful and invigorating hair dressing, free from grease and stickiness, Parisian Sage will surely cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching of the scalp, or money back.

The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package, and leading druggists in every town sell Parisian Sage.

The Cokers made it five straight by defeating Grafton 5 to 1 yesterday and it might have been a shutout but for a couple of timely bingles in the ninth inning. The Engineers were dangerous several times but twice lightning double plays put them out of the running.

Cornelius and his team weakened in the second inning and permitted the Cokers to bat around, during which they made all of their runs. The game was a light hitting one but was interesting from start to finish. Neither team did any exceptionally hard hitting, Zinn's three base drive in the opening session being the longest hit of the contest.

With one man out Grafton started out like a winner in the very first inning. Zinn batted a Yoedt curve over Calhoun's head for three sacks but an instant later Dunn gobbled in Hinton's low drive and doubled Zinn at third. The Cokers were even less fortunate as they did not get a man to first.

The second inning was a blank for the Engineers, but Cornelius got his. Ike Francis was the first man up and walked. Myers attempted to sacrifice but would have forced Ike at second had not Hinton muffed Cornelius' throw. Calhoun advanced the men when a sork on a sacrifice waits like scored on Dunn's single. Myers and Dunn came trotting home on Crafts's hit to left for a pair of bases and Ben tallied when Gilligan singled, after Yoedt was out and Morgan had been hit. Hinton threw Gilly's grounder wide and Morgan trotted home on the error. Hagan singled to left and Gilligan was tagged at the pan.

This ended the scoring on both sides for a time. Grafton looked dangerous in the fifth when a single by Raley and Warren's double put men on third and second. Brigger's fly to Morgan ended the session without a tally. The Cokers had a good chance to score in the sixth but did not take advantage of their opportunity. Myers drove a liner through Ganiear's glove for two bases but Calhoun struck out attempting to sacrifice. Billy Dunn also fanned at three deceptive shoots and Fralley was retired on an infield grounder.

It looked like a sure shutout until the ninth. With one out, Hinton singled. He got to second on Raley's infield out and tallied on Ganiear's bingle to Myers, beating the throw to the plate by a foot or two. Warren flew to Morgan and the game was over. The score:

Leading The Way.

Five straight.
Nine is the record.
Cokers got the nine, too.
Fitzwater should work today.
Johnny Yoedt was there with the goods.
Gilligan stabbed a long foul in the fourth.
That man Zinn is a dangerous character to have around.
If the Cokers can beat Fitzwater today they will be going some.
Lefty Wallace won his game for Uniontown. He'll get his yet.
Yes, kind reader, Wallace is the man the Cokers carried as dead weight last year.
Mr. Wallace had a chance to show his appreciation for the kindness but his bump of gratitude was nil.
Notice how Kid Hagan is playing now? The Kid appreciates his treatment here while down and out with an injured ankle.
Morgan hasn't started to hit them out yet but he has his eye on the ball. That man Morgan is some ball player.
Two double plays in one game is going some. The presence of Billy Dunn in the infield has something to do with it.
Barney Gilligan continues to play a swell game of ball at first base. He is doing even better than he did at second.
Kid Hagan made his famous one-handed heave in the ninth inning Grafton hadn't batted yet so the Coker slammed the ball to the fence.
Ike Francis pulled off some good fielding stunts at short. His wing was all to the merry. Yes, he got his usual bingle.
Dutch Myers didn't get his lamps on the ball until the third time up. Then he swiped it. In the field Dutch lagged a little on a throw.
Dave Calhoun fielded well, as usual. Some thought he misjudged Zinn's drive, but this is questionable. It was an awful smash.
Dunn's only single was a beauty and it scored a run. Billy is a pinch hitter of class, apparently. Keep it up, Willyum.
Ben Fralley nailed the ball on the nose in that awful second spasm. He also caught a good game behind the bat. Ben is surely there.
Those misguided youths from the telegraph poles who yelled "Take 'im out" at Johnny Yoedt are telling around today what a swell pitcher he is. They all like to be on the band wagon. Yoedt pitched well.
Guess it must be a relief to Sweeney to have Cannon and Yoedt going right once more. They were badly off color for a time. Slumps will come, however.
Scout Sam Kennedy of the Philadelphia Americans, left last night to join Connie Mack in Cleveland and talk things over. Kennedy was watching the work of Dutch Myers and several other promising men of the circuit. Like all scouts what he has to say will be to Connie Mack and no one else.
Umpire Bill Smink is a good fellow and has the fans with him. Wednesday he dubbed the Cokers the "Old Soldiers" and the "Old Veterans." Yesterday they were the "Muds." Wonder what his dope is for them today.
When the crowd looked down the third base line in the eighth inning it caused a smile. Ike Francis was coaching, with Silcox and Hagan crouching behind him making a bedlam of noise and evading the keen eye of the stout gentleman with the chest protector on. Smink got wise, smiled proudly and then made a motion to hurl his mask in their direction. The clowns vanished.
The line of those Coker boys is causing all kinds of favorable comment. There is lots of zinger, lots of laughter, and lots of hard work in the boys these days. If they keep it up nothing can keep the rag away from them.

VREELAND FIRST VICTIM

Suffers Severe Injury When Statesmen's Baseball Team Practices.

Washington, July 16.—With his collarbone broken and one shoulder blade dislocated, Representative Edward B. Vreeland is enjoying the unenvied reputation of being the first person injured in connection with the baseball game today between the Republicans and Democrats of the house.

The accident occurred when a few of the aspirants for positions on the Republican team were out for practice. Someone threw a nice high, easy looking "fly" toward Mr. Vreeland. He evidently misjudged and jumped for the ball and slipped.

Trains Come Together Head-on—Engineer and Fireman Dead.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 16.—A northbound passenger train on the Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw railway collided head-on with a southbound freight one half mile north of Schultz station. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train are dead and the engineer and fireman of the freight are probably fatally injured.

The dead are, Melvin Meade, engineer, and Seth Chandler, fireman, both of Kalamazoo. The injured are Fred Kruse, engineer, and John Millbeck, fireman both of Kalamazoo.

The accident is believed to have been caused by a misunderstanding of orders.

TIED SUBPENA TO BRICK

Process Server Then Hurled It Through Window at Broker.

New York, July 16.—Unable themselves to serve a subpena on Samuel J. King, an insurance broker, complainants in a suit against him engaged a professional subpena server to do the work.

Discovering that King's dining room window was usually open during meal time, the process server tied the subpena to a brick and hurled the brick at Mr King through the window. He reported in court that the brick hit Mr. King and he picked it up thus constituting what the complainant's lawyer contended was legal service.

MURDERED ON ISLAND

Slayer Takes Poison When Arrest Is Imminent.

Port Huron, Mich., July 16.—Louis Rosenberg, a cigarmaker of Cleveland, was murdered on a lonely island in the St Clair flats. Frank Elbera, also of Cleveland, charged with the murder, is dead from a dose of poison self-administered when he found that arrest was imminent. A third Cleveland man, Sam Frisble, is held at the county jail as an accomplice to the murder and has made a confession.

Frisble told a sickening story of the coldblooded fashion in which Elbera killed Rosenberg.

Frisble said that race hatred as well as greed seemed to enter into Elbera's attack on Rosenberg. "I'll get that Jew yet," he says Elbera had frequently remarked. During a dance Frisble declares that Elbera coaxed Rosenberg out of the hall and over to the island on the plea that he would meet some girls there. Frisble says he accompanied them. At the head of the island Elbera suddenly attacked Rosenberg. The cigarmaker screamed for help and ran toward the river. Elbera, according to Frisble, chased him out into the water, struck him with the revolver, and then forced his head under the surface where he held him until Rosenberg was drowned.

The dead man's clothes were stripped of all valuables, some $200 being taken.
